Spring Mystery Tour: Day by Day

Day One – Whispers of Green Beginnings

Our motorcoach rolls out from Western North Carolina, bound for a city shaped by imagination, culture and cuisine. Along the way, after lunch, a garden stop beckons with soft blooms and quiet paths. By late afternoon, we arrive at our gracious red-brick hotel — a welcoming landmark exuding history that blends genteel southern charm and comfort.

As twilight falls, we gather for dinner in one of the city's acclaimed restaurants, where Southern warmth meets inventive flavor. Candlelight, conversation, and a touch of culinary magic set the tone for the days ahead.

Day Two – Petals, Paint, and a Hilltop View

This morning, we wander through a lush botanical haven, where every shaded path and sunlit bed offers a new kind of poetry. A garden café luncheon provides a midday pause — light, fresh, and fragrant.

The afternoon unfolds inside a museum that celebrates beauty in all its forms, from brushstroke to sculpture. As evening nears, we ascend to a quiet overlook where the city stretches out below us, a gentle reminder of its proud past and vibrant present. Tonight's dinner is a feast of flavors, served in a space that blends elegance with unmistakable local character.

Day Three – Echoes of Courage, Gardens of Grace

Morning brings us to a place where history is not confined to textbooks — it lives in the walls, the words, and the spirit of those who walked before us. It is here that courage took root, changing the course of a nation.

Later, we retreat to a more intimate garden, fragrant with camellias and framed by still waters. The contrast is quiet, contemplative, and deeply moving. That evening, we gather around another thoughtfully set table, where inspired dishes and warm hospitality create an atmosphere as memorable as the city itself.

Day Four – The Road Home Through a Garden Dream

As our journey draws to a close, a final garden awaits — expansive, artfully designed, and alive with the colors of the season. Terraces, fountains, and woodland paths guide us through a landscape that feels both cultivated and wild. It's a gentle, elegant farewell before the familiar hills of home welcome us back.

The destination remains a secret until the journey reveals it.

Space is limited — this mystery is best shared with fellow travelers who delight in discovery, beauty, and the joy of the unknown.

Due to the inclusion of several gardens on this mysterious tour, it's only natural to expect some walking surrounded by wonderful southern foliage. How much you choose to walk will be your choice, but this tour is best enjoyed by those able to fully explore by foot our many destinations.
